If parents and guardians realise it will be impossible for their child, who will be studying at Ingleburn High School during 2012, to return to school in Week 1, it is important that they write to the Principal asking for an exemption, indicating the anticipated date of return to school. The number of students at the end of Week 1, and the known student returners, count towards the school staffing level and classroom allocation for 2012.

NB: School exemption forms can be found in school documents/forms on the school’s website. [Click here to download the exemption form from our website]
